Looking into the future of sustainability: an approach to sustainable cities and renewable energy

17th of June 2012

9:00 am-10:30h am

Hotel Windsor Barra, Avenida Lucio Costa, 2630 - Barra da Tijuca, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

OVERVIEW

The event organized by the Spanish Global Compact Network in the Corporate Sustainability Forum in Rio de Janeiro on June 17th will focus on the experience of Spanish companies on sustainability issues.

Nowadays, a lot of metropolises in the world are implementing the Smart Cities' model. This concept includes a big variety of solutions and proposals with two common points, the efficient resource management and improved quality of life.

Also it is producing a clear transformation of global energy model in order to take advantage of the environmental benefits, profit and benefits for the companies that produce renewable energy.

Several important Spanish companies are working on some projects about Smart Cities and Renewable Energy. Endesa, Acciona, BBVA, Agbar, will present their projects and share with you their experiences and best practices in these areas. Key questions will be asked to discuss these two issues between speakers and attendees.
